The academic year of 2019-20 was truly a story of two parts. In the fall we began the year on campus as we all expected, with students pursuing opportunities to excel, from student artists displaying their work at a university-hosted Scholastic Art Award ceremony to Walker’s ski team winning first place in the opening competition of the year. Athletes were recognized by the New England Preparatory School Athletic Council in a variety of sports. Four students were awarded their Girl Scout Gold Award and nearly 50 Walker’s students were selected to compete in the nation’s longest-running and most prestigious math contest.

Walker’s musicians performed at the Northeast Regional Festival Concert. Students’ literary successes in a range of genres won commendations at the Scholastic Arts and Writing competition, the New York Times Personal Narrative Essay Contest and invitations to join Middlebury’s Breadloaf Young Writers conference. And a senior, while participating in the Girls With Impact program, was inspired to found ‘Mirror Me Diverse,’ a program to distribute diverse books to classrooms countrywide. Nurturing these inspired students in their achievements were Walker’s extraordinary faculty.

Before we could catch our breath from these bright, early moments in the academic year, we found ourselves engulfed by the COVID-19 pandemic. During spring break, Walker’s faculty and staff achieved the unimaginable: pivoting an entire school toward a new academic model, an opportunity that was termed ‘emergency remote teaching’ over a matter of days.

With our student body spread out across different time zones and continents, we commenced the remainder of the spring semester virtually — and did not miss a beat as we transitioned to this new teaching and learning environment in which students learned remotely both synchronously and asynchronously. By pulling together, and placing the needs of our students at the heart of every conversation, decision, and plan, Walker’s faculty and staff were able to deliver a virtual academic program of the highest possible quality. In response, our students continued to excel. Two of our students won the Harvard Alumni for Global Women’s Empowerment Writing Contest (the only U.S school students to do so) while others won honorable mentions for their poetry in the Smith Poetry Competition and Nancy Thorp Poetry Contest, just by way of a few examples.

As a school, we have experienced a series of events that has reshaped us and left its indelible mark on our history. Across the country, and indeed the globe, we are all grappling with the complexities of our present circumstances. At Walker’s, we are differentiated by our transcendence of this challenge, of this opportunity — emerging stronger as an institution — with our students flourishing, our enrollment growing, and our community united.

When all else is stripped away, and we hold our collective health as precious cargo in our hands, we are faced with choices of how to proceed. There is only one path we can take and that is to move forward, in unison. How we have risen as a community in this moment!

Our resolve to fulfill our mission has been strengthened by this test of our fortitude. Our passionate dedication to the pursuit of an academic experience so enriching that our students become the thinkers, change-makers, and leaders of tomorrow has been spurred ever onward. It is your philanthropy and collective dedication to our School that have been the cornerstones of this steadfast progression. Your giving this past year has underpinned our present, our history, and our future.

Faculty were outstanding, delivering an extraordinary education, and Walker’s did not just endure, but rather transcended the experience of finding ourselves in a pandemic, emerging as a strengthened community. In the most testing of times, we can be forced to confront the depth of our character. Faced with this introspection at Walker’s, we have revealed a core strength so radiant that it lights our path forward. We are bold, we are courageous, and we will endure through this moment to rise stronger from it, and greet our bright future together.

Eleanor Roosevelt wisely observed, “The giving of love is an education in and of itself.” We at Walker’s might add, “The giving of an education is also love in and of itself.” We thank you for your love that has made so many educations possible at our beloved School.

My sincerest thanks and unending gratitude for your love and support,

Dr. Meera Viswanathan
Head of School

The Ethel Walker Heritage Society

The Ethel Walker Heritage Society was established to celebrate and honor those women and men who have chosen to make gifts to The Ethel Walker School through a bequest. Throughout Walker’s long history, bequest gifts have been the largest source of investment income to the School. Ethel Walker’s personal philanthropy through planned giving reflects this generosity of spirit. She has been an extraordinary benefactor to the School having shaped the School with her vision from its founding moments and now into perpetuity. Her demonstration of planning for the future helped to realize her philanthropic ambitions. It is a fitting tribute that our planned giving society bears her name. We invite other alumnae, parents and friends to share in Ethel Walker’s ambitions and commitment to an extraordinary education for girls and consider joining her and many others by creating a planned gift.

+ DECEASED
No fundraising program can succeed without the dedication of its volunteers. Alumnae, parents, grandparents, and friends of The Ethel Walker School once again joined together to ensure the realization of our 2019–2020 goals. To them all, we extend a heartfelt thank you.
